A308 LONDON ROAD (SECTION 1)

This section stretches from the Crooked Billet roundabout to the Iron Bridge where the A308 passes under the Windsor railway line.

This is currently a very busy and congested section with narrow, cluttered footways.

Many participants of the Staines Movement study identified that this specific area has several issues affecting walking and cycling.

IMPROVEMENTS COULD INCLUDE

- Widening pavements to create a route shared by pedestrians and cyclists linking the town centre to the existing shared pavement along the A30.

- Looking at areas where people are parking on the pavement to improve accessibility.

- Improving safety for pedestrians in areas where vehicles tend to mount the pavement.

- Installing a pedestrian crossing across the A308 at the traffic lights with Fairfield Avenue.

- Making improvements to the public realm in this area by reducing the cluttered street furniture and generally making it a nicer to walk to the local shops.
