This section covers the access road into Staines station from Kingston Road and Rosefield Road, a quiet residential street.

It provides a direct route for cyclists to get between Staines station and the Crooked Billet roundabout.

Cyclists would be directed along Greenlands Road. This road has restricted car access but can be used by cyclists as an alternative to using the busy A308 London Road.

IMPROVEMENTS COULD INCLUDE

- Installing directional signage from the station to improve cyclist route finding for example to the town centre, the railway station and to the Thames.

  A folding bike hire scheme at Staines railway station. Folding bikes can be taken on the train during peak hours so journeys can be made combining cycling and rail.
